in portland's public transit system

a weirdly informative project by the friendly nerds at portland afoot

(pdx's 10-minute newsmagazine about buses, bikes & low-car life)

illustrated by cells that represent different amounts of cash, each 100 times larger than the last:

- 10¢
- $10
- $1,000
- $100,000
- $10,000,000

which means you definitely want to zoom in.

(zoom to fit your screen width. best enjoyed in firefox, safari, internet explorer 9, on a tablet or by downloading the pdf. chrome makes it pixel-y.)
